

A photograph of a sunset or sunrise sky. The sky is a mix of soft pinks, oranges, and blues, with wispy clouds. A small, bright white spot, possibly a star or a distant planet, is visible in the upper left. In the bottom right corner, the corner of a building with a large window and some green foliage are visible.

conversations with the ghosts i exhumed

R E N J

table of contents

I	foreword
2	just a shell
3	stays, stands, and remembers
4	tranquil when young
5	shades of pink
6	the way of our ways
7	one of my screams
8	this magic moment
9	to thrust daggers
10	hand with grace
11	i watch airplanes
12	is this the conclusion?

in the quiet depths of the night, amidst the shadows of memory, i present to you "conversations with the ghosts i exhumed." this collection of 11 poems is a brief exploration of the fleeting moments we share with our past selves, our ghosts. each verse is a whispered conversation, a gentle reminder of the briefness of time and the temporary nature of existence. as we walk through the corridors of memory, may these poems serve as lanterns, illuminating the path as we confront the echoes of our past and embrace the whispers of our ghosts.

foreword

I plunge deep into oceans of blue
And touch the sprouts that grew
Once, I understand how current brew
Now, I am just a shell devoid of new Emotions that tie me to an island above
The smirks above the phases of lunar cove
I leave all my musings in deep caves
And carve my name in underwater graves
Staring at the tornadoes I forgave
For giving my kingdoms great disgrace
Once, I met a legend of the South
Just to bring his barbarians to scout
I am chapter in the dark emperor's eyes
The duke's enemy with heart of ice
They say I ask for too much price
It's bad to ask right, I surmise
I always knew the downfall is on the edge
But never expected death in my own hedge
They steal my banks with no value
As I wave my kingdoms adieu
So I plunge deeper into oceans of blue
Where my name is not a taboo

As the sun rises to bleak my mind
As the waves roar to peek from behind
I exhume the ghosts stuck in time perforation
A replay of an endless conclusion
Stuck in the maze of the clouds and sun
To the end of which, you find what's gone
Warm July greeting my rustic Augusts
To where I find incandescent dusts Feverishly glowing my clay face red
By your porcelain voice inside my head

The moon drowns in the seas of mists Wishes thrown to the stars and missed
Golden dusts sinking in our bluest summer
A sure swirl of brush strokes to remember Fields that were once tainted with carnation
Has turned into rose blood red complexion
Oh the day comes, wild joy runs
Nothing pumps off blooms, all is done
Film strips gone, burned in theaters
But one stays, stands, and remembers

stays, stands, and remembers
R E N J

tranquil when young

R E N J

PAGE 4 OF 12

I open my eyes to ceilings of low
And remember the stories of time below
I love the danger of time peeking
I love the flames of time seeking Habits scream opposite of our ways
Tranquil when young, raging for days
As my feet rustled the falling leaves
Four footprints these trees grieve
The sun touched the ground
The birds occupy the scapes of sound
I look around and pinpoint the nothingness
Beyond the lines of trees in mundaneness
I shout to hear nothing back
I look down and see one pair back
Habits screams their wrath to my ears
Of a dream turned into fears

I find myself bumping with people Trying to look for you, rose rush my pale
When I find you, I try to hide like a kid
A cherry blossom among the orchids
I find your thoughts while my dreams go on You paint my nights in hot carnation
You paint me deep like seas in morale
And cover me in your beautiful coral
I fall to myself and think how I can un-remember
A beauty smelling like lavender

She walks like a living Barbie Dancing my musing a fandango when she Talks and take me to all sorts of paradise
My clouds become bright and filled by her wise
Your bougainvillea cover my fences through My misty mornings are cleared by the charm of you
You pave my bumpy roads into cotton candies
Putting me on high champagne like brandies
While writing this, my eyes sparkle as I wink Because you make me feel all shades of pink

shades of pink

R E N J

You did get on my world
Landing in your craftly words
Down to the fields I crown
Submerged to the seas I drown
Getting me back to the ground
Putting me back around
We stitched what was a divide
We were cosmically tied

Now, I stare and wish
Saucers fly and take risk
Shooting stars crash into me
But none feels like you and me
I'm on my knees waiting
For some dot to start sparkling
To come and take me away
And put me back to your way

You did get on my nerves
But my heart is all you deserve
Now, I lay in my old town
Blinded as the stars go down
You pumped my engines like no other
You touch me like no other Stitch us back to what we were Then we became a cosmic tear

Now, I'm laying shouting a wish
Asking time to come and take a risk
Precious fate come back to me
Prove what you showed me
I'm on the edges waiting
To stitch back the sparkling
The universe rips our worlds away
The void is its own way

Abduct me on your favorite saucer
Don me with your great feather
Paint me with your world
Splash me with your words
Some times are just better
I'm tired of close encounters
Come crash and blow me up
'Til we make something until we stop

Let me kiss all of my wishes
And hope them making comeback to me
Nothing is as ever sparkling
Than the way of our ways

You knew all of my fears
You became one so it sears
Now, I watch the daybreak
Not knowing what to make
Of words best shouted
At sleep when I'm in your bed
Now my whole house is burning
From my arson of yearning
You say, "It's already too much"
But never felt your touch
I take the band-aids off the pain
Even if it's my name's vain

You knew all what I grieve
You weren't one, I believed
Now all my roads are your pledge
Blocked at every edge
Now, I fear all my shadows
And cling to all what goes
Now, I remove wine from my clothes
But they are pinned like your oaths
I try to outrun my thoughts if you
But they always morph new
What do I do the touch of my dreams
The became one of my screams?

Honey, when I see these beds
I see the clouds above our heads
Good days are bad cloaks
Covering the most obscure jokes
The music calls to stop a rush
A crash of the heart's crush
These glass panes look new
I still can't bear my loss of you

There was me before you
The one you fell into
The one painted with all blue
There was something because of you

Honey, when I see the sky
I can't help but ask why
Why does life cut short wicks
Of candles bright above these bricks
Some mass scatter near your heart
I'll always try to be your piece of art
I ask my little friends for details
How our love was ended by flails

There was me during you
The one you crashed into
The one you kept running to
There will be me that will never see you

I can't walk away and touch these hearts
If you leave me with all these broken parts
I try to ask what ended this magic moment
Answers adrift and at peace in atonement
You had the best of me maxed out
You were the one my nights were about I wished those 20 minutes had sink in
'Cause I thought we were gonna win

There is me after you
The one you left bruised in blue
The one you left your soul into
The one that will never meet you

Dice roll to thrust daggers
Pieced the hearts of others
What calls such sharp in front?
What calls such beauty I want?
Periods are pertinent
But questions are more permanent

Six days off to a land I won
From the veils of lies I don
What calls me back to running to you?
What calls me back to wanting you?
Periods are the rarest air
But answers are less than rare

Reporters call to step on my lawn
I find you at my feet at dawn
What do all your glances mean?
What do all your comments mean?
Periods are stars to stare
But understanding is less than bare

The past is one long hallway
The future is something to stay
Could we stay as friends and be it?
Could we stay in the storm and avoid hit?
Periods end statements you believe
But you're a person I can't leave

Choppers crash my news center
Bombs fly over my deep craters
Questions are more permanent
Answers, less than rare
Understanding, less than bare
The person I can't leave
Touching you as I bereave

White veils run over the red carpet
As you walk all the way to the summit
Breathing fast like chased by a rabbit
Clutching hands like some bandit

You hold the hands and kneel down
Blood in contrast to you angelic gown
I watch as the visitors sit down
As the orchestra starts making their sound

I open the doors and scream your name
Would you run away with me?
My getaway car is ready to let us be Free that chain and you'll be free

The people looked at me starkingly
"Who is this sudden anomaly?"
I profess beyond their fake empathy
My heartstrings for you only

I run to in front of their faces
And you hold my hand with grace
We run in our fastest pace
"Good thing I haven't said yes"

You ride on my getaway car
And we run to somewhere far
Out the prison they created scars
Crashed a wedding for my bright sta

I watch airplanes fly to my death
I catch my ever elusive breath
The trees bow to their longest breadth
And I recall how you unsensed by breth
Numb to the point of not feeling regret
Of the pain my skies beget
Your arson burning my widest heath
The smoke which my lungs only felt

I watch the sparkle turn to dust
My glittering prime turned into rust
When all my forest put into combust,
I turned on to the vipers whom I trusted
My cabins turned into fine sawdusts
My name wiped off the Earth's crust
My mornings are put into deadly thrusts
Plunged into the land of scorching stardust
In watched as my justice become unjust
My rings are ocean deep of disgust
For all the fields I entrust

And in the cliffs I let the air kiss me
As the airplanes crash me free
At least I am away with the sea

i watch airplanes

R E N J

is this the conclusion?

R E N J

PAGE 12 OF 12

Fast forward to the mouths I longed
Back to the story I belong
I lay down and watch the light disappear
From my ceiling full of your air
I see your silhouette on the blackboards
I feel your breath at the stores
I bump to your ghost everytime I run
I find my life memorialized when we were gone
Whispers to my ear of the time-stricken Affair that defined all I've been
I scourge the books for the lost chapters
And try to fill them up in our rapture
My empty pockets once filled with shine
We got when we were on the same mine
I call on to our death in confusion
Is this the conclusion?

I recall the times you look into my windows
Follow my heart wherever it goes
Stuck in my room, longing for perfume
Stuck in brightness of the darkest doom
I hope you find me in the faces of crowds
I hope you don't forget how proud
I am of your position in wrinkled fate
The cracks will always show late
I stand on the corner of our hazy past
I put our standing in scrutiny
Why do I see you even if I am blind
Why do I see you inside my mind
I put all your ghosts into rest
But the surreal voices of the past come best
When I lay and try to close the illusion
But is this it? Is this the conclusion?

R E N J

conversations with the ghosts i exhumed

just a shell
stays, stands, and remembers
tranquil when young
shades of pink
the way of our ways
one of my screams
this magic moment
to thrust daggers
hand with grace
i watch airplanes
is this the conclusion?

